A Very Sensational Offering! Men's Luxurious Winter Overcoats Of Genuine "O'Brien" Irish Fleece $39.50

CUSTOM TAILORS with a high-class clientele use O'Brien fleece in Overcoats, for which they charge anywhere from $85 to $125—and the material, woven in Ireland, is rarely obtainable except in made-to-order clothing.

It is soft, shaggy and wonderfully warm—coats made of it are solid comfort on a winter's day.

We were fortunate enough to secure enough of this cloth for 250 Winter Overcoats. We had them made up by one of our crack American tailors in the three fine models illustrated above.

One of the three is bound to please every man who wants a smart-looking Winter Overcoat, of a warmth-without-weight fabric that is literally as soft as a kitten's ear, and tailored to perfection.

Raglan Sleeves Full-Length Ulsters Box Coats

Satin yoke and sleeve linings. Twelve soft colorings to choose from—and an astonishingly low price to pay—$39.50.

Remember—There Are Only 250 of the Coats!
